GHPL Named All-Time All-Star Library

Library Journal has named the Grandview Heights Public Library (GHPL) one of America's best public libraries for the 10th consecutive year.

GHPL is one of only 13 U.S. public libraries to receive a five-star rating in all 10 editions of the magazine's Index of Public Library Service.

This year, the index evaluated 7,409 U.S. public libraries across the country, with 259 receiving a starred rating and 85 libraries receiving a five-star rating. Ratings are based on 2015 data from the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS)—circulation (physical and digital materials), visits, program attendance, and Internet use, each per capita.

Your continued support has made GHPL one of the best public libraries in the country. Thank you!

FILM FESTIVALS

Should've Won the Oscar?

Mondays, March 5-April 9, 6 pm & April 16, 6:30 pm

Anyone remember the movie Cavalcade? Didn't think so. But it won the Academy Award for Best Picture in 1933, while a certain classic about a giant gorilla terrorizing New York wasn't even nominated. If you think that's unfair, then join us for our alternative Oscars series - what the awards might have been like in a more reasonable universe.

King Kong (1933)

March 5

One of Hollywood's most iconic films, overlooked for the fairly forgettable drama Cavalcade. No wonder the big ape was so upset.

Dr. Strangelove (1964)

April 2

While we're certainly not questioning the validity of My Fair Lady, an even stronger case could be made for Stanley Kubrick's absurdist black comedy about the Cold War.

Mr. Deeds Goes to Town (1936)

March 12

This Frank Capra gem lost out to the shallow spectacle of The Great Ziegfeld. Huh?

Badlands (1973)

April 9

Terrence Malick's true life crime drama was arguably a worthier champion than the star-powered comedy of The Sting.

The Heiress (1949)

March 19

While All the King's Men is surely a quality film, is it on the same level as this William Wyler masterpiece starring Olivia de Havilland and Montgomery Clift?

The Apostle (1997)

April 16

Robert Duvall's tour de force (he wrote, directed, and starred in the film) would have been a more adventurous choice than the epic melodrama of Titanic.

Touch of Evil (1958)

March 26

Orson Welles' gritty film noir versus the frothy musical Gigi! Talk about a study in contrasts.

Don't Get Excited!

Mondays, April 23-May 7 at 6:30 pm & May 14 at 6 pm

Congratulations to Sheldon Gleisser for winning our 2017

Pick-A-Movie-Theme contest. His idea? Films whose titles end with an exclamation point! These movies are not to be missed!

Girls! Girls! Girls! (1962)

April 23

Elvis Presley plays a seafarer trying to keep his career afloat!
Come early at 6 pm for Elvis karaoke with a kingly impersonator!

MYSTERY TITLE (1947)

April 30

This 20th Century Fox film noir stars Dana Andrews, Jane Wyatt, and Lee J. Cobb! A one word title with the appropriate punctuation!
Call the library at 614-486-2951 for the answer!

Die, Monster, Die! (1965)

May 7

Boris Karloff stars in this irresistibly-titled shocker!

I Want to Live! (1958)

May 14

This Susan Hayward picture is based on a true story about a woman facing the death penalty!
